OVERVIEW

Andrew Ramos is an associate in Cetrulo LLP's Boston office. He earned his Bachelor of Science degree from Texas A&M University and his Juris Doctor from Suffolk University Law School. While in law school, Andrew gained significant practical experience across a range of litigation and regulatory environments. He worked at a mid-sized law firm, where he contributed to complex litigation matters. At the Massachusetts Office of the Attorney General in the Gaming Enforcement Division, he supported state-level enforcement efforts for both District and Superior Court cases.

Before attending law school, Andrew built a strong foundation in technical and commercial operations. He worked as a Fire Construction Sales Engineer at Johnson Controls, where he drafted code-compliant proposals for large-scale commercial construction projects.

With a unique blend of legal, technical, and commercial experience, Andrew is well-positioned to handle complex matters involving business litigation, regulatory compliance, commercial transactions, and products liability, personal injury, and premises liability cases.
